

Enjoy this gift from author Sarah Stup!

- E-mail it to those who want to know more about the experience of autism and to reflect on universal themes like life, love, spirit and the need to belong.
- Cut and frame it as you would a favorite photo.
- Use it as a gentle reminder to celebrate and honor yourself.

*Don't be afraid
to be different.
Honor yourself.
-Sarah Stup*

Excerpt, Are your eyes listening? The collected works of Sarah Stup
© 2006-2017 Sarah Stup, SarahStup.com

This inspirational quotation is excerpted from Are your eyes listening? by Sarah Stup.

Sarah is a critically acclaimed author with autism who has written numerous books for adults and children.

Are your eyes listening? is an honest and heartfelt collection of poems, reflections and essays about autism, life, love, spirit and the need to belong.

Through its pages, we journey inside her world so we can experience the very sights, sounds and feel of autism. A special book for special people, including yourself!

108 pages, 6 x 9, perfect bound
$18/copy

More excerpts at SarahStup.com.